

Spring
2017

*

Issue
37

*

CONTENTS

		Editorial
		Two Poems
		Poem: UFO
		Poem: Afternoon, Seaside
		Last Class with Anne Sexton
		Two Poems
		Sonnet 81: Now You are Mine translated by Dana Gioia
		Poem: Ysgyfarnog
		Landscape with Urination
		Poem: Saviours
		Poem: Sycamore Bark
		Poem: All the Things
		Poem: The Wives of the Poets
		A Defender of the Faith
		Poem: Reintroduction of the English Wolf
		Poem: Who Knows the Hour?
		Poem: Ode to Joy
		Poem: Mother, Order Octopoda
		Poem: The Stolen Bridle
		The Savage Beauty of Robinson Jeffers
		Poem: The Leaf at the Centre of the Tree
		Three Poems
		Poem: On Listening to the Carter Family's 'My Old Cottage Home'
		Poem: At Seventy
		Two Poems
		Between the Devil and the Deep Sad Sea: D. H. Lawrence's Birds, Beasts and Flowers
		Two Poems
		Poem: My Sister and the Heavy Magic
		Poem: Knights
		Poem: lovechild
		Poem: Wide as the Ocean Is
		Notes on Contributors